[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

P. M. S S Co. to Build Four New Iron Steamers

New York April [illegible]—The Board of Directors of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company at a meeting yesterday, concluded, in view of the unusual demands now made upon their carrying capacity on the Pacific coast, to enter into a contract for building four new iron steamers of such capacity as the increasing business [illegible]. Of these new ships it is anticipated that two will be constructed by John Roach, builder of the City of Peking and others of the line. The remaining contract will be awarded to other builders.

The Condition of Boss Tweed.

New York April 6—Mr Stearns one of the Commissioners of Charities says Tweed is in the most strictly guarded part of the prison from which he could not escape unless twenty two keepers, constantly on guard were bribed. F[illegible] says he does not think it devolved upon the Commissioners to make a martyr of Tweed or to show any unnecessary severity toward him during his term of imprisonment. Foster's Dewey, his Tweed's private Secretary and now his [illegible] agent, says the room occupied by Tweed is certainly more comfortable than the cell but its [illegible] was not worth more than $40.

[illegible] Senatorial Contest.

Boston, April 6.—The ballot to-day resulted as follows: Whole number 191 necessary to a choice [illegible]; Dawes, 67, Hoar 7 Curtis 3 Adams [illegible], Washburne, Whittier Phillips and Pierce [illegible] each.

Postal Changes for the Pacific Coast.

Washington April 5—The following postal changes have been ordered for the Pacific coast: Postmasters appointed—George R Hammersley at [illegible]Creek Lane county Oregon; C T Tracy at [illegible] Douglas county Oregon. Office discontinued—Centerville Washington county Oregon.

State Taxation of Railway Lands.

Senators Kendall of Nevada and Crounse of Nebraska, had an argument yesterday before the House Committee on Public Lands in advocacy of [illegible] bill providing for State taxation of lands [illegible] granted by Congress to railroads. Hop[illegible] as counsel for the U P R R Co argued [illegible] the proposition. Crounse's remarks had especial reference to U P land grants and Kendall's Central Pacific.

Sanborn Vindicates Himself.

Washington, April 6—Sanborn appeared before the Ways and Means Committee to-day but acting under the advice of counsel declined to submit a [illegible] statement. Sanborn said he had received $[illegible] and $211 000 under his contract of which he had probably paid $160 000 to others and has yet to pay men still. He had paid $[illegible] as counsel fees, but nothing to Internal Revenue officers. He made his entire arrangements with Boutwell. The additions to his contract were [illegible] from Richardson while Boutwell was in [illegible]. The witness had no doubt Richardson [illegible] perfectly what he was signing.

When Richardson Will Resign

Secretary Richardson said to-day that when he [illegible] to retire from the Treasury, he will notify the public.

Prospects for Inflation.

Efforts are being made for a combination in the House to defeat the inflationists. It is still uncertain, therefore, that the scheme will succeed for [illegible] legal tender and National Bank circulation [illegible] by four hundred millions unless accompanied by some plan looking toward a gradual contraction.

Why Mitchell Wants to Inflate.

Pacific Coast people here attribute Mitchell's union with the inflationists to a desire to con[illegible] Morton, Chairman of Committee on Elections, in whose hands rest the memorials relative to Mitchell's case.

WASHINGTON COUNTY INDEPENDENT CONVENTION

Hillsboro April 4 1874

The Independent County Convention met at Hillsboro to-day. The turnout was extraordinarily large, the new Court House being literally packed full, and many were left standing in the stairway and in the hall below.

A. Luelling was chosen Chairman, Henry [illegible] Secretary, and Mr Campbell Assistant Secretary. A Committee on Resolutions and Committee on Credentials were appointed after which the Convention adjourned.

After a recess of one and a half hours the Convention met, and after reading and adopting the reports of the Committees, proceeded to the nomination of candidates as follows:

For State Senator, C Jackson, which nomination was received with prolonged applause.

Representatives—Ahio Watt of Forest Grove was nominated; who was lustily cheered.

Thos. Tucker and T D Humphreys were [illegible], and after six or seven ballots (both [illegible] meanwhile withdrawing) the vote resulted in the nomination of Humphreys.

Mr Roe was chosen the third and last candidate for the Legislature.

Ahio Watt withdrew his name and Partlow was placed in his stead.

For County Judge, A C Archbold was almost unanimously nominated.

For Clerk, Alfred Luelling was chosen after a spirited contest with James Imbrie and W D Pittinger.

For Sheriff, Chas T Tozier had the inside track and came out winner.

For Treasurer, W Simmons was nominated.

For Coroner, G M Raymond was nominated.

Judge T D Humphreys then declined the nomination for Representative in a neat speech which was favorably received. C Jackson also declined the nomination for State Senator and P G Buford was nominated in his stead. C Jackson was placed on the Representative ticket to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Judge T D Humphreys.

THE TICKET

State Senator, P G Buford. Representatives, C Jackson, G C Roe, James Partlow. County Judge, A C Archbold. County Clerk, A. Luelling. Sheriff, C T Tozier. Assessor, [illegible] Phippin. Surveyor, Wythacomb. Treasurer, W Simmons. Coroner, G M Raymond. Commissioners, John Landess, Wesley Purdin. Superintendent of Schools, D M C Gault.

DELEGATES TO THE INDEPENDENT

State and District Conventions were then elected [Our reporter failed to send the names of the delegates.—Ed.] Your reporter was unable to secure a copy of the platform.

The Convention was orderly and united throughout its session. The ticket is generally commended as a strong one. It will be elected.

A New Dodge to Raise the Wind.—A very sly old woman in Cleveland has been making money by tricks that are [illegible]. She waylays young men when they are out with their lady friends and demands that "dollar and forty cents that you owe me for washing." The young man is generally too confused to make an immediate reply and his confusion is not lessened by the inquiring looks of his fair friend, while the old woman repeats her demand, and in some cases obtains her plunder.

Dairy Observations.—The [illegible] rural editor of the Detroit Free Press seasonably remarks: "We have our opinion of any cow which will stand by and chew her cud when butter is selling at twenty five cents per pound."

From San Francisco

San Francisco April 6—The report was circulated last night that [illegible] shot Chas Kohlenrath [illegible] proves to have been untrue. [illegible] Kohlenrath's wife is in the East and does not even know the victim of her husband's wrath. The theory generally accepted by the friends of the parties is that Kohlenrath played some practical jokes on his [illegible] worker till he drove him crazy.

Capt. Higgins has received from the employees of the Pacific Mail Company here a letter of respect and regret at his resignation from the service of the company. Mr Taylor has assumed the duties of the office.

San Francisco April 6—J. Bern[illegible] an old citizen of Corinne Utah was murdered by some unknown person to-day. He has relatives in this city.

San Francisco April 6—The Pacific Mail Company will hereafter send a steamer to Panama and China and Japan every 14 days.

Belcher has declared a dividend of $[illegible] per share—$520 000 payable on the 10th.

About $40 000 was paid to teachers of the School Department of this city to-day.

San Francisco April 6—A meeting was held this evening at Anthony Hall of women interested in dress reform. Mrs Clark presided and a general discussion of the prevailing fashions was had. The meeting finally resolved that women's dresses ought to be made much shorter in skirt, that corsets and bustles should be discarded, and false hair thrown away.

A fire occurred to-night on Natoma street, the residence of Mr Waldstein. Damage about $600. The flames were quickly extinguished by the firemen.

Interior California.

Chico, April 6—An excursion train arrived here from Sacramento this morning, bringing the Sacramento Zouaves commanded by Capt Wm Galt. They came by invitation from the colored citizens of this place, to join them in celebrating the anniversary of the Fifteenth Amendment. They marched through our town led by the Sacramento brass band this afternoon. The company went through their drill by the tap of the drum which drew a large number of people. This evening they give a grand ball. The company will return to Sacramento to-morrow.

Shasta April 6—Milton Shepardson who was convicted March 7th for stage robbery was to-day sentenced to the State prison for a term of seven years.

Tehama April 6—This evening's train while passing Nord station crossed over a man named Shotte parting both of his legs from his body. It is supposed that he was intoxicated and while in that condition laid down on the track to sleep. It is thought he cannot possibly survive.

April Fool Joke With a Terrible Ending.

Salinas City, April 6—Another fearful tragedy occurred to-day by which one man lost his life and another was badly wounded. The parties were named Downey and Dennison. The tragedy grew out of a harmless joke on Downey April 1st. Some of the young folks at Diamond Hotel on April fools's day sent Mrs Dennison to Downey's room with a letter containing the words "April Fool." Dennison saw her coming from the room and taken with a fit of jealousy he reproached her with bitter words and she retorted in the same kind. A separation was agreed on and proceedings were commenced for a divorce. Much ill feeling between the parties concerned has been the result. Dennison it is said, told his mother-in-law Mrs Warren to-day that one of them must die before the day was over. Going down to Cropley's saloon he saw Downey and called him out to speak to him. They passed through a narrow hall to the rear of the building in a little back yard. Dennison said "You are a —— ——. You caused my trouble." Downey then struck him with his fist and knocked him down. Dennison then drew his pistol and Downey sprang for him and the pistol was discharged; the ball striking Downey in the left side and coming in contact with a rib glanced around it and came out near the spine. Downey then seized and wrested the pistol from him when Dennison turned and ran through the saloon and up the street followed by Downey. When in front of Winn's Chop House he stumbled and fell. At the instant of falling Downey fired the shot taking effect in the right temple coming out near the top of the head on the left side. Downey was arrested, placed in charge of the Sheriff and taken to the drug store, thence to his room at the hotel. He still continued to smoke a cigar which he had in his mouth all the while. He said while being taken to the drug store "If I am mortally wounded I want you all to know that he shot me first."

Dennison was taken into the chop house until a surgeon came who upon examining the wound said "I can do nothing for him; only let him die in peace." He presented a ghastly sight. Blood and brains were trickling from the bullet hole. The body was taken to the Coroner's office and his wife sent for. Her grief was intense. Her cries and tears were pitiable as she stood weeping over the body. He lived but a short time and died unconscious. He did not speak after the fatal shot was fired. His brother who lives in Santa Cruz has been sent for and will be here to-night. An examination will be held as soon as Downey is able to be brought into Court if his injuries do not prove fatal.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY WITH THE CRUSADERS

Clackamas April [illegible] 1874

At a meeting of Lone Star Lodge April [illegible] a committee was appointed to draft and forward the following for publication:

Whereas, The ladies of Portland have engaged in a crusade against the rum traffic in that city by the performance of religious exercises at the different places where such traffic is being carried on; and

Whereas, In the performance of the exercises they have met with insult and abuse; therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the duty of all friends of temperance to encourage and strengthen them in the performance of their noble purpose.

Resolved, That the sympathies of this Lodge are with them in their efforts, and we view with indignation all attempts to put them down by violence and insult.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Daily Oregonian, Daily Bulletin and weekly Christian Advocate.

A Wild Cat Story.—The Vicksburg Miss. Times tells the following in its issue of March 4: One day last week the residence of Mr Powell near head of navigation on Sunflower river was attacked by a gang of wild cats, Mr Powell and a colored servant only being at home. The door being closed one of the cats jumped through the window when Mrs Powell threw a blanket over and threw it out of the [illegible]. This one was soon followed by another which she killed with a small ax. By this time the [illegible] was attacked [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] white neighbor who was at work near the place who came to his assistance and killed [illegible] with a hatchet but not until the cook had been pretty well clawed by the kitten. The gentlemen then went to the relief of Mr Powell at the house when two of the cats attacked him quite severely before he succeeded in dispatching them. Four of the pack were killed and several wounded before they could be scared off. The hides of the four cats that were slain were brought to this city on the steamer Dixie yesterday. A day or two after this attack the carcass of a deer was found buried near this place with evidence of its having been the work of this same pack of cats. This account comes to us through a reliable source and we can vouch for the veracity of it. The natives attribute the attack to hunger.

LETTER FROM SALEM

Salem April [illegible]

Experienced farmers [illegible] spring [illegible] [illegible] and that the prospect [illegible] harvest [illegible] greater than [illegible] increase in the acreage that will be [illegible]. The number of new and improved [illegible] will exceed any [illegible] in the State for the past [illegible] years. The farmers [illegible] excellent spirit. They have [illegible] new [illegible] in personal [illegible] enterprise [illegible] moral habits [illegible] like men who have made the discovery that by their individual and united effort they can [illegible] of their oppressors.

THE GRANGE

Are working a grand revolution among the agricultural classes. The institution is now one of the most popular among the farmers in the State and is one of the most growing. It is telling favorably on the personal social and industrial habits of both members and outsiders. The qualifications for membership give direct encouragement to industrious temperate and economical habits. The large element of good women among the ranks of the membership—the farmers' wives and daughters—elevate the social and moral tone of the Order. The meeting together in the same Grange men of different religious and political opinions, the direct tendency is to do away with sectarian prejudices and party spirit and substitute [illegible] brotherly kindness and mutual esteem. That they will make some mistakes is but reasonable to expect but their correction [illegible] is just as certain while the individual and united results will be grand both directly and indirectly for the best interest of the country. The lurking [illegible] are being rapidly abolished. [illegible] keepers are complaining bitterly of bad trade and dull times. Intoxicating drinks are never introduced at the farmers' tables. [illegible] universal demand for good schools, better teachers and the total and unconditional removal of the public school system from the control of trading politicians. The signs of the good time coming are upon us with strong indications of glorious effects. One of the conspicuous signs of the times that promises grand results is the uprising of the people in favor of the

INDEPENDENT [illegible] PARTY

Only a few weeks ago a successful movement of this kind carrying a single county in Oregon was laughed at by superficial observers and to assert that it would carry the State was considered the language of a fanatic. Then the movement was like the size of a man's hand in the political heavens; now it covers the whole sky pregnant with showers of blessings for this State and Pacific coast. So far as I have had an opportunity of inquiring and observing the great majority of the farmers of Marion county are in favor of this movement and will support it warmly at the election in June. It may be stated as a reliable fact that three fourths of the farmers connected with the Granges, will vote the Independent ticket at the coming election. The emancipation of the great mass of the farmers of this State from party control and the leadership of corrupt politicians into the liberty of independent thought and action is as great a political revolution as ever took place in any State of the Union and one that every lover of his country ought to hail as the precursor of a glorious future.

As a confirmation of these statements the

MARION COUNTY INDEPENDENT CONVENTION

Held here to-day is a striking and gratifying confirmation. The free and full expression of opinions gives indication of great success [illegible]. There were 102 delegates in Convention. The excellent business arrangements, the honesty of expression, the singleness of purpose, the high character of the members, the harmony of the proceedings, the declaration of great principles and the patriotic spirit manifested have never been excelled by any county convention in Oregon. The members of the Convention rose to the elevation and grandeur of the occasion [illegible] feeling and action beyond the expectations of the most sanguine friends.

Although you will get a full report of the proceedings of the Convention from the proper quarter the resolutions prepared by the Committee [illegible] before the Convention by Mr John Minto and received with enthusiasm by the members are worthy of being repeated in this place as an evidence of the thoughts and interests of the men representing the important county of Marion and the sentiments of the independent men of Oregon who are determined to re-establish [illegible] reign of justice and right [illegible] judgment in this State.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY THE MARION COUNTY INDEPENDENT CONVENTION

Resolved, That we are opposed to [illegible] officers whether State or national [illegible] any place in the conventions of the people or acting as committeemen in calling such conventions or in any manner seeking to influence the free action of the people in selecting candidates for public offices.

Wild geese and ducks are thick [illegible] Grand Rond Valley [illegible]

J. Spencer has taken the contract for getting [illegible] 1000 tons of quartz for Howe & Watson in Eye Valley Baker county.

[illegible] Hendricks of the Lake country who had [illegible] forty horses before the winter set in, lost every one and narrowly escaped perishing himself.

Farmers are busily engaged plowing throughout the Powder River Valley and we learn that there will be more grain sown this season than any heretofore.

The miners of Eastern Oregon are ready for Old Sol to put down his [illegible] that the water may pour down into their ditches from the snowy mountains.

The warm weather now prevailing has started the snow to melting which causes Rogue river to be very high. The various creeks are also almost unfordable.

Miners in Jackson county are beginning to feel the falling of the water in the creeks and ditches and many of them will soon be compelled to lay down the shovel for another season.

A man named [illegible] was buried up to the chin by a caving bank near Jacksonville last week. He was extricated with much difficulty by a friend and was fortunate in not being badly injured.

The recent cold weather drove deer and other game down into the valleys in Jackson county from the mountains in considerable quantities and any amount could be slaughtered without any trouble.

The stock on Butte Creek Jackson county is getting along finely and there is but little danger of any further loss. The loss during the winter was not heavy. Grass is springing up nicely and with a few days more of fine weather will be good grazing.

The [illegible] in the James Gordon ledge Baker county has been worked out and now the [illegible] a large amount of quartz [illegible] which is far richer than any heretofore taken out. All the [illegible] work will be pushed forward.

The roads in Powder River Valley are reported in a terribly bad condition. The Herald says: "There seems to be a general [illegible] underneath the ground's surface [illegible] horses go down but always manage to get a sage brush in their teeth thereby keeping their head above terra firma."

The new mill at Gardiner owned by Hinsdale Lord & Co has commenced operations there being a single gang of eight hands employed on circular saw. Hinsdale has gone to San Francisco to purchase a planing machine edger and another steam engine all of which will be in operation early in May.

The Baker City Herald learns that the quartz which is now being taken out of the Summit mine at Augusta [illegible] is of a richer quality than has ever before been produced in that mine. We are inclined to the belief that there are no mines in Baker county which have been fully developed. But much will be done the present season in tending that way.

The dwelling house of Wm Wilkinson on Butte creek Jackson county, was burned to the ground Sunday evening the 29th ult. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mrs Wilkinson had left the house but a short time before to meet her husband who was hunting stock and was returning when she discovered the house to be on fire. With the exception of a few articles everything was burned.

Late advices from Baker county say the Summit Mine owned by Lockwood and Stewart is looking first rate. The level tunnel that is running south from the 130 feet station is showing a fine body of ore. A winze is being raised to connect the air shaft exposing a fair ledge all the way through from two to six feet in width. The main sinking is being pushed as rapidly as possible from the 310 feet level. This stope is opening out a vein two feet thick which prospects from $30 to $50 per ton. They have about 30 tons of quartz on the dump and by the time the roads are dry enough to haul will have not less than 300 or 400 more. The snow is four feet deep at this place.

Major Owen of Jacksonville has just returned from his ranch north of Upper Klamath Lake where he has been wintering stock in the snow by a novel process suggested by the experience of trappers and Indians. The snow caught him with a limited amount of hay which was soon exhausted but he had a good supply of oats and flour and with this and other means he prepared to make the best of the chances. He scalded a portion of the oats each day and mixed with flour which he doled out to them at the rate of one handful per head feeding it to them from boxes and holes prepared for the purpose and guarding the weaker from the stronger with clubs while the feeding was going on. He then with hired men cut down fir trees covered with moss and mistletoe upon which the cattle browsed during the remainder of the day. By this means he has succeeded in avoiding the loss of a single head. But he was not so successful with his sheep. These were given into the care of other parties and he is fearful of losing them all—certainly will lose the greater portion of them.

The Jacksonville Sentinel says: Under date of March 22d Arthur Langell writes to his brother Hon Nat Langell, that the mortality of stock in Langell Valley now that a probable estimate can be made will not prove near so great as has been anticipated from reports received here from time to time during the past three months. From their own herd consisting of several hundred they will not lose to exceed ten per cent and [illegible] so far only about three per cent are known to be missing. Some parties will [illegible] a greater proportion while others will lose less [illegible] the severity of the storms. From other sources we learn that the weather of late has greatly moderated—so much so that the snow has sufficiently disappeared to allow cattle to feed upon the old grass while in many places the new grass is starting. The greatest loss hereafter will be occasioned by the marshiness of the ground wherein the stock will mire down and perish from weakness to extricate themselves. The severe [illegible] sheep which flocks having perished from cold and starvation in [illegible] every valley in the Klamath Basin. Mr Langell's letter relieves the anxiety of many of our citizens who are more or less interested [illegible] business [illegible]

A Valuable [illegible].—In a letter published in the foreign papers Ruskin says: "Recently I saw, not for the first time, and with confirmed conviction of its worth, the Raphael Madonna which is at present offered to England. If she chooses to have [illegible] old art among her modern [illegible] The price [illegible] all prices just now. When I was a boy [illegible] might have bought a Turner any day for [illegible] now [illegible] £2000. You might have bought such a Raphael as this [illegible] perhaps £4000 or £5000 [illegible] now they are [illegible] at £40,000. My own impression is you might get it for less. But what is £40,000 to Liverpool? The picture has no price. There has been no such Raphael in the market in my lifetime [illegible] supremely fine Raphael [illegible] I believe [illegible] Raphael [illegible] intensely characteristic and precious [illegible] whole and worth [illegible] what in money but in [illegible] the whole exhibition of the Royal Academy for [illegible] years running."

THE TERRITORIES

Congestive chills are prevalent at Tacoma, [illegible] especially among the ladies.

There are five secret societies at Walla Walla W T: Masonic, Odd Fellows, Good Templars, Champions of the Red Cross, and the Patrons of Husbandry [illegible].

The report of the City Treasurer of Olympia for the year ending April 1st shows the receipts to have been $10,66[illegible] disbursements $10,[illegible]3 18, balance on hand $1 41.

Montana is situated with twelve degrees of longitude and four degrees of latitude. It is [illegible]0 miles long and 250 miles wide. It has more than three times the surface of the State of New York.

One of the children at the Rocky Mountain Seminary exercises said the nineteenth fractional wife of Brigham was making money enough in the lecture field to get divorces for the other eighteen fractions.

Up to the close of 18[illegible] the handful of miners who had for ten years wandered over Montana picking and panning and ever moving about had added to the world's wealth in gold one hundred and twenty millions of dollars.

The following business was transacted in the U S Land Office at Walla Walla during March: Land sold, 1,580 88 acres; [illegible] D S [illegible] 2,200; [illegible] Soldier H D S [illegible]; [illegible] Homesteads 800; [illegible] Final Homesteads, 9[illegible]; total 11,0[illegible] 88 acres.

A Washington Territory paper deems it necessary to contradict the statement of the New York Sun that the editor had $25 000 in a bank and says "Up to the hour of going to press we have not 25 cents in any bank in the world."

De Lacy who was awarded the contract for driving the mail from Kelton Utah to the Dalles is now at the east end of the line and will soon be over the route to look at the stock of the N W S Co with a view perhaps to purchase it.

Horse thieves are beginning to operate pretty lively about Walla Walla and other places in that locality. Several fine horses have been stolen within the past two weeks. Farmers everywhere should look after their horses at this time of year.

It is estimated that the coal fields of Montana cover [illegible] square miles. With this is also [illegible] iron ore and fine clay. England is the workshop and bank of the world, but she could be pocketed in this single mine of Montana and leave plenty of elbow room to work in.

The Cheyenne Leader says: It is estimated by competent judges that there are now [illegible] head of cattle in Laramie county worth on an average $15 a head. This would give us a stock valuation of $750,000. The herd of J W Creighton alone on Horse creek is valued at $120 000.

Prof. John McArdle fell from a ladder in an incline shaft in the Speckled Trout mine near Deer Lodge Montana on the 21st ult, a distance of eighty five feet and received injuries from which he died on the 24. One of his legs and one of his arms were broken, and his head was badly cut and bruised.

The newsboys of Denver are the latest to form a protective trades union. They found that a number of wicked outsiders were making inroads on their traffic, and so twenty of the legitimates formed an organization with constitution, by-laws etc. They will doubtless be reported on a strike next.

The artesian well at Fort Russell is now down 1,350 feet. Rock was struck at a depth of 1,212 feet below the surface. After going through about 100 feet of rock, a vein of cannel coal of the very best quality was struck. The coal is as hard and as bright as jet and burns with remarkable brilliancy but the vein is thin.

The Walla Walla Spirit of the 3d inst says: It is now thought that not near so much stock has died this winter as was anticipated. Stock begins to pick up once more and in the course of some weeks will be all right again. Sowing of spring crops has gone on energetically of late. The universal desire now among the farmers is for a rain. It is hoped that we may get one soon. In case we do large crops may be certainly looked for this year.

The Steilacoom Express says: While Mr Thomas Hood and wife were driving in a buggy towards Tacoma to attend the funeral of the lady's father Mr J B Wren she suddenly fainted and fell from the buggy on the doubletree while the horses became frightened and started off at full speed. Mr Hood at last ran the vehicle against a tree bringing the horses to a dead stop and lifted his wife into the seat just in time to save her from being severely kicked by the wild animals. She escaped with some bruises on her body and a shattered dress.

There are at the military post at Walla Walla 10 officers and 213 enlisted men. Three men have deserted since last pay day. Major Green has resumed command of the troops and held a monthly inspection on the 31st ult. The soldiers passed before him in review after which he walked through the ranks accompanied by his staff. The military bearing and general appearance of the soldiers would have done credit to the best disciplined armies of Europe. Second Lieutenant Moore Co B Twenty first Infantry has succeeded First Lieutenant L R Theller, of Co G in the temporary command of Co J Twenty first Infantry during the absence of its own officers. A reading room has been opened for the soldiers' amusement which is under the charge of Lieutenant J M Ross Co B Twenty first Infantry. A fair number of newspapers and periodicals are to be found there and books are very soon expected.

The Ogden Junction, in support of the bogus claim of a million and a half dollars made upon Congress by the rapacious priesthood, mentions among other virtues and patriotic services of the Mormons that at the call of the country they have gone out to the plains and protected travelers from the assaults of the savages. The Tribune says: This may be [illegible] truth but the editor forgot to mention how this protection was afforded. At Mountain Meadows for instance they protected six score of Arkansas travelers from the assaults of the savages, but the trouble is they made their protection altogether too effectual. Killing a man to save his life has been condemned by many enlightened thinkers as an extreme policy. This Arkansas party of men, women and children were protected out of existence. A million and a half for the country to pay for such services is altogether too much, especially as the generous protectors fell heirs to all the property left by the extinguished party.

A Ghastly Discovery.—A special dispatch from Biddeford Me. received at Boston on the afternoon of March 16th says some boys while playing near the bank of the Saco river about half a dozen rods below the cataract bridge found hedged in among the rocks a human head. The head was that of a young woman. The face quite beautiful and was so well preserved that it could not have been in the water more than forty eight hours. A cord was tied tightly around the forehead to which was attached a brick. The horrified boys notified the police who hurried to the spot and in a few moments quite a crowd had collected. Coroner Gannis declared the face to be that of a young lady he had seen on the streets and several persons were of the same opinion. The head was taken to the city hall for recognition and it is estimated that during the afternoon a thousand persons eagerly sought admission to the hall, among whom were many ladies. The face is described as that of a young lady of twenty years, dark hair, teeth well preserved and all parts of the head save a piece of one ear which is gone. The head had been chopped off from the body close to the chin. The affair causes great excitement and all sorts of theories are broached as to the cause and nature of the crime which it is evident has been committed.

Harmony Encampment No. 3, I O of R. C.—Meets Tuesday Evenings at Good Templars' Hall [illegible] Alder street at [illegible] o'clock.

Duke [illegible] An amusing [illegible] of an English nobleman recently deceased is told by the "Man About Town" in the English [illegible]. We give it in his own words:

"The Duke," he says, "was once in church, no matter where, when a collection was announced for some charitable object. The plate or bag or whatever it might be began to go round and the Duke carefully put his hand into his pocket and took out a florin which he laid on the pew before him ready for transfer to the plate. Beside him sat a little snob who noticing the action imitated it by ostentatiously laying a sovereign alongside the ducal florin. This was too much for his grace who dipped his hand into his pocket again and pulled out another florin which he laid by the side of the first. The little snob followed suit by laying another sovereign by the side of the first. His grace quietly added a third florin, which was capped by a third sovereign on the part of the little snob. Out came a fourth florin to swell the Duke's donation, then the little snob triumphantly laid three sovereigns at once upon the board. The Duke, not to be beaten, produced three florins. Just at this moment the plate arrived. The little snob took up his handful of sovereigns and ostentatiously rattled them into the plate, then turned defiantly towards his rival as who would say 'I think that takes the shine out of you.' Fancy his chagrin when the Duke, with a grim smile, put one florin into the plate and quietly swept the remaining six back into his pocket. His grace used to chuckle when he told that story and I think on the whole he had the best of it."

TUESDAY MORNING APRIL 7 1874

DOUGLAS COUNTY CONVENTION

The Independent Convention of Douglas county to select delegates to the State Convention was held last Saturday at Roseburg. Nearly every precinct in the county was represented by a full delegation who attended in person. The delegates chosen are mostly farmers and are mentioned as among the best men of the county.

The Convention expressed its preference for Hon John Burnett for the Judgeship of the Second Judicial District. It was also voted unanimously that Hon Binger Herman was the choice of the Convention for District Attorney, but Mr Herman declined to allow himself to be considered as a candidate for that or any other office, declaring his wish to see the Independent movement in the hands of men who have not hitherto been known as politicians. This action of Mr Herman's gives contradiction to the charge that the politicians who favor the People's ticket do so in order to get office. The movement is essentially an uprising of the agricultural classes, and whatever politicians are in it are in it because they think more of the rights of the people than of the opportunities for getting office.

The utmost harmony and good feeling prevailed in the Convention, and the Independents of that county are sure of carrying the election by an overwhelming majority over the combination that is now in course of formation between the "Straightouts" of both parties. There is no longer any doubt of the fact that the Hipple Republicans are forming an alliance with the Straight Democrats, but the Independents have no fears but they will be able to clean out the (Con)fusion ticket by at least four hundred and fifty majority in the county.

THE BULLETIN'S FORGERY

Another specimen of that disingenuousness (to use a mild word) which characterizes the Bulletin in its opposition to the Independent movement was exhibited in yesterday's edition. In its report of the proceedings of the Independent Convention of Marion county held at Salem on last Saturday, we find the following as the third resolution reported by the platform committee:

3. That we are in favor of the purchase of the locks at the Falls of the Willamette by the State, and in case we do not succeed in purchasing the same we will then be in favor of carrying out the original contract with the owners of said locks in its full spirit and letter.

And at the end of the resolutions reported the Bulletin says:

On motion the resolutions—after the third one had been read three times—were unanimously adopted.

This whole thing is unqualifiedly false. No such resolution was reported by the Committee, no such resolution was offered by any one, and of course no such resolution was passed. On the contrary a resolution exactly the opposite of that, in its main feature, was reported and unanimously adopted. The report in the OREGONIAN gave a correct copy of the resolution adopted, but we reprint it here in order that our readers may see it side by side with the Bulletin's version of it:

3. That we are opposed to the purchase of the Locks at the falls of the Willamette, by the State, but are in favor of carrying out the original contract with the owners of said Locks, in its full spirit and letter.

Comment would be superfluous. At any rate, no words could sufficiently characterize the meanness of this forgery. And this is the sort of journalism the ring employs to accomplish its objects.

COMMISSIONER DOUGLAS ON THE SANBORN CONTRACTS

The interviews between the House Ways and Means Committee and officers of the Treasury Department have been free from all circumlocution. Mr Richardson expressed his opinion of the law in unequivocal terms, and took especial care to free himself from all complicity in the swindle. Sanborn's statement, as it appears in our dispatches this morning, flatly contradicts the Secretary of the Treasury in several particulars. But the most pungent denunciation of the Butler-Sanborn law yet made by any Government officer is to be found in the statement of Mr Douglas, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, a brief synopsis of which is given in a Washington correspondence of March 31, as follows:

He said having never been consulted concerning the law and contracts under it, he only knew of the latter incidentally; the taxes embraced in the Sanborn contracts were being collected in the regular way, when Banfield, Solicitor of the Treasury, instructed Bliss and the Internal Revenue Collectors not to receive payment in cases included in those contracts. He learned these instructions casually, not having issued them; on October 1st, 1873, had written the Secretary of the Treasury concerning the instructions but received no answer. According to his view suits for recovery of revenue taxes could only be brought by his authority; he considered the Solicitor of the Treasury had no right to instruct Bliss to bring suit in matters under the Sanborn contracts; he only knew of these suits as the investigation developed the fact; is positive that derelict taxes are only collectable through the regular channel. If John D Coughlin, Assistant Assessor in New York, had kept the book record of the estates of deceased persons liable to taxation as the law required, all the difficulty in collecting would have been obviated; did not believe in the policy of the law under which the Sanborn contracts were given; it countenanced the spy system; did not recommend the passage of the law; thought Sanborn recommended it; Butler called on him. Douglas's explicit statement impressed the committee favorably.

The dose which the Albany doctors compounded for moribund Democracy isn't the most palatable in the world. The grimaces with which some of the Democratic papers struggle to swallow it indicate that less violent physic would have answered the purpose much better, while not even an ocean of litigant pap can wash it down the rebellious gullets of others. The Coos Bay News for instance has just received its pill, and having carefully licked off the sugar coating sends the bare nostrum back to the compounders after this fashion:

The nominee for Congress is a person named La Dow of Union county, who was a member of the last Legislature. To shelve men of standard ability and well established reputation like James W Nesmith and W W Page for an almost unknown individual looks to us like a most egregious blunder. The rest of the ticket is good enough.

What manner of language is this? "A person named La Dow, who was a member of the last Legislature!"

AT SCIO

We have just received the report of the Independent precinct meeting at Scio, which should have come to hand some days ago. Mr Benj Harris was Chairman of the meeting and J B Irvine Secretary. The Chairman on taking the chair made an elegant and pointed speech in which he flayed the ring of all classes in a very merciless manner. The delegates elected to the County Convention are Benj Harris, J B Irvine, H H Hewett, M Bilyeu, J A Minner, Peter Smith and F M Arnold. The people of Scio and vicinity are enthusiastic in their support of the Independent movement.

A Salem correspondent asks us to explain the meaning of the word "Hippocrene" as it appears in Figaro's valentine to Swinburne:

Lave thy hot lips in the pure Hippocrene,
But—shame, sir—keep the Muses' fountain clean.

The ancient myth tells us that when the nine Muses contested with the nine daughters of Pieros, King of Emathia, on Mount Helicon all became darkness when the daughters of Pieros began to sing, whereas during the song of the Muses heaven, the sea and all the rivers stood still to listen, and Helicon rose heavenward with delight until Pegasus, at the request of Poseidon (Neptune), stopped its ascent by kicking it with his hoof. From this kick there sprang a fountain—Hippocrene—fountain of the horse. It is also sometimes termed the Heliconian fount. It was the inspiring well of the Muses to which Persius alludes in the prologue to his Satires: "I do not remember to have slept on three forked Parnassus, nor do I remember to have steeped my lips in the Hippocrene (fons caballinus) that I might on a sudden come forth a poet."

Immediately on the opening of Parliament (March 19) Mr Whalley, friend to the Tichborne claimant, brought the action of Chief Justice Cockburn in his case to the attention of the House of Commons. The Speaker read a letter from His Lordship informing them of the circumstances under which one of its members was adjudged guilty of and fined for contempt of court. A Committee of Investigation was appointed. The Committee rendered its report March 31st. In it they say Chief Justice Cockburn only did his duty. Whalley has given notice that he will demand a new Committee of Investigation.

Gen Baker, Commissioner of Pensions, has sent to the House of Representatives his reply to the charges recently made against him, in which he was accused of misconduct in office. The Commissioner alleges that all the accusations emanate from persons who were dismissed from his office for neglect of duty or nefarious conduct. He protests that he has been "flood gated," and argues what he terms the injustice and the demoralizing effect upon the public service of permitting public servants to be arraigned by discharged clerks and others without the support either of competent testimony or responsible name.

Federlandet and Emigranten, the Norwegian paper published at La Crosse, Wisconsin, on the 19th of March contained a letter from Copenhagen dated Feb 21st in which it was stated that the same district that was overflowed in 1872 has been inundated again. The water entered many houses, besides destroying a great many cattle. The total loss is not mentioned, but a statement of it may be looked for in the next issue. The levees or breakwaters along the entire south coast of Holland and Falster are destroyed and the whole country is under water.

Lucas county, Ohio, is unfortunate in the important particular of Treasurers. Dr V Brown, ex Treasurer, was to have been tried March 18th, on a charge of embezzling public funds during his term of office. But it was discovered, at the last moment, that the complaining witness, County Treasurer Greiner, had absconded with distended pockets. Some of the county treasure is missing and the "giant demon of slander" (to which the Chaplain of the Senate called the attention of the Almighty a few days ago) slyly whispers that Greiner is the thief.

The Bulletin correspondent at Salem, who suffered his passion for the ridiculous to get the better of his veracity in reporting the Marion County People's Convention, speaks of D W Prentice, Independent nominee for Coroner of Marion county, as an "apt Prentice in politics." Mr Prentice's duties will begin on the evening of the first day of June, and his first job will be to give the Republican party of Marion county a decent burial. In this he will certainly be found an apt Prentice.

Among the laws passed by the California Legislature at its recent session and approved by the Governor was an act authorizing the Supreme Court of that State to divide its sessions between the capital and San Francisco. The Sacramento papers are not pleased, of course. The Union thinks the bill should have been entitled "An Act for the benefit of the San Francisco bar and to tax the people therefor."

The Swedish Government has asked the Diet to appropriate the sum of 50,000 crowns ($13,533) to defray preliminary expenses in taking part in the Centennial Exhibition. Sweden and Norway together expended $75,000 on the Vienna Exposition, and it is believed that they will contribute quite as liberally toward their display at Philadelphia.

To-day is the day assigned in Congress for the consideration of the bill to provide for a gradual reduction of the army of the United States. The action of Congress on this subject will be watched with great interest in many quarters.

Who shall say that all republics are ungrateful? Marshal Serrano, President of the Republic (Republic by courtesy), receives $10[illegible]

MEETING OF THE DISTRICT CONVENTION

PORTLAND, April 1, 1874

At a meeting of the Nominating Committee held the 31st day of March 1874 the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Nominating Committee of the people of this county, together with similar committees to be sent from the other counties of the Fourth Judicial District, meet in Portland on Saturday, April 11, 1874, at 11 A M, for the purpose of nominating a District Judge and District Attorney for the Fourth Judicial District. The basis of apportionment will be one delegate for every [illegible] votes cast for W[illegible] and E[illegible] [illegible] and one additional delegate for every fraction of [illegible]. On this basis the respective counties will be entitled to the following representation:

|---|---|
| Clatsop | [illegible] |
| Columbia | 1 |
| Clackamas | [illegible] |
| Multnomah | 11 |
| Washington | 1 |

The other counties comprising this District are earnestly invited to send their delegations as above, and when it is inconvenient for one entire delegation to attend it is suggested that those attending be authorized by their respective counties to cast the entire vote to which the county may be entitled.

In pursuance of the above resolution, the said Convention will meet at the time above named at Philharmonic Hall in Portland. All delegates to said Convention are requested to be present.

GEO WOODWARD, Sec'y

A Washington dispatch states that evidence is now made public showing that President Lincoln offered the Chief Justiceship to Senator Sumner on the death of Taney. The Senator declined and urged the appointment of Salmon P Chase as a means of avoiding an imminent rupture between Mr Chase and the President.

TUESDAY MORNING APRIL [illegible] 18[illegible]

CITY.

NEW [illegible] At the request of the [illegible] [illegible] East Portland [illegible] examined a new device just made by him [illegible] propelling water craft. The model shows [illegible] somewhat rudely [illegible] [illegible] clearly shows that the principle [illegible] may be used to adv[illegible] [illegible] considerable gain [illegible] both in power and speed. The move[illegible] [illegible] endless chain with paddles [illegible] [illegible] the stern wheel of [illegible] [illegible] frame work [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] There is no sidewise pressure [illegible] [illegible] entire power being app[illegible] [illegible] lifting up [illegible] [illegible] backward or forward. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the chain revolves [illegible] [illegible] apparatus [illegible] [illegible] large steam vessels as well [illegible] [illegible] In the model [illegible] by hand by means of [illegible] [illegible] sitting in the stern of the [illegible] crank [illegible] the river will be made [illegible] few days and Mr [illegible] feels that success [illegible] assured. He [illegible] proper application [illegible] letters patent.

[illegible]—Major Geo W Johnso[illegible] of East Portland has purchased a piece [illegible] land near the corner of I and Water stree[illegible] and proposes to erect a large wooden build[illegible] the present season. The old powder hous[illegible] which has long stood on the site is being tor[illegible] down. The hewn logs of which this old bui[illegible] was constructed are as sound as when fi[illegible] put up and will be used for the frame of [illegible] new. This building will be 25x[illegible] feet [illegible] stories high, the first story 15 feet in the clea[illegible] and the second 10 feet. Messrs [illegible] Lawrence are the contractors. Work has a[illegible] ready been commenced and the expectation [illegible] to have the building all up within forty day[illegible] from date.

PIONEERS ORGANIZED.—Last evening th[illegible] members of the Pioneer Base Ball Club me[illegible] and after a brief discussion of base ball ma[illegible] ters organized with the election of the fo[illegible] lowing officers for the season: [illegible] Backenstos President; [illegible] Thompso[illegible] Vice President; J M Geary Secretary an[illegible] Treasurer; Directors Thompson, Barke[illegible] Whiting, Backenstos and Oliver. The Ca[illegible] tain of the first nine will be chosen at the ne[illegible] meeting. The Club has a large membersh[illegible] from which an excellent nine can be selected[illegible] In conjunction with the Arctic Club th[illegible] Pioneers will place the Academy grounds [illegible] proper order for playing.

TROPICAL FRUIT.—Mr Paul Griswold wh[illegible] went to the Sandwich Islands [illegible] months [illegible] since for the benefit of his health returned o[illegible] the Falkinburg. He brought a large lot o[illegible] splendid bananas from those Islands which [illegible] for lusciousness and delicacy of flavor are u[illegible] surpassed. He has opened a stand at No [illegible] on the west side of [illegible] street betwe[illegible] A and B, and will be pleased to have the pub[illegible] lic call on him. Mr Griswold has laid the [illegible] OREGONIAN office under obligations for a mag[illegible] nificent bunch of the tropical fruit.

DIED.—Intelligence was received yesterday [illegible] by telegraph by the family in this city of th[illegible] sudden death of Mr John B Talbot at Balt[illegible] [illegible] early hour yes[illegible] terday forenoon. The deceased was we[illegible] known [illegible] having resid[illegible] here for many years. Mr Talbot was an ol[illegible] Pioneer of Kentucky, Illinois and Oregon an[illegible] served through the war of 1812. He died [illegible] the advanced age of 81 years. The remain[illegible] will be buried to-morrow.

ELECTION OF VESTRYMEN.—The annual elec[illegible] tion of Vestrymen for Trinity Church wa[illegible] held yesterday at the Vestry of the Church[illegible] The following gentlemen were chosen a[illegible] Vestrymen for the ensuing year: Dr [illegible] Glisan, Dr R B Wilson, Judge M P Deady[illegible] Capt Geo H Flanders, Mr Lloyd Brooke[illegible] Edwin Russell Esq and Mr F Weeks. A[illegible] the election there were 94 votes cast, 55 o[illegible] which were cast by gentlemen and [illegible] by la[illegible] dies.

EASTER SERVICE.—Easter Sunday seemed to [illegible] have a great attraction for our Scandinavia[illegible] fellow citizens. Last Sabbath the church wa[illegible] filled. On this occasion there was also a[illegible] other festival—the first baptismal service sinc[illegible] the consecration of the church. Two infant[illegible] were baptized by the pastor Rev A [illegible] Fr[illegible] richsen. We are pleased to learn that pros[illegible] perity attends this church and it has our hear[illegible] test wishes for future success.

CITY.

NEW PROPELLER.—At the request of the in ventor Mr C F Gay of East Portland we examined a new device just made by him for propelling water craft The model shown us has been hastily and somewhat rudely constructed but clearly shows that the principle upon which it works may be used to advantage and at a considerable gain over side wheels both in power and speed The invention consists of an endless chain with paddles attached and supported by frame work similar to that which supports the stern wheel of our river steamers This frame work chain and paddles are all submerged when the boat is in the water As the paddles move backward they present their flat sides to the water and as they come forward they cut the water edgewise There is no sidewise pressure on the water the entire power being applied squarely and there being no lifting up or bearing down of the water as when the ordinary paddle comes out of or goes into the water The chain works on a toothed wheel to prevent it from slipping and can be run backward or forward The principal merit in the invention is the arrangement by which as the chain revolves the paddles are changed from a lateral to an edgewise position The apparatus it is claimed can be used for large steam vessels as well as small ones run by hand In the model the power is applied by hand by means of two cranks the person sitting in the stern of the boat A trial on the river will be made in a few days and Mr Gay feels that success is assured He has made proper application for letters patent

FRAME BUILDING.—Major Geo W Johnson of East Portland has purchased a piece of land near the corner of I and Water streets and proposes to erect a large wooden building the present season The old powder house which has long stood on the site is being torn down The hewn logs of which this old building was constructed are as sound as when first put up and will be used for the frame of the new This building will be 25x50 feet two stories high the first story 13 feet in the clear, and the second 10 feet Messrs Rhoades & Lawrence are the contractors Work has already been commenced and the expectation is to have the building all up within forty days from date

PIONEERS ORGANIZED.—Last evening the members of the Pioneer Base Ball Club met and after a brief discussion of base ball matters, organized with the election of the following officers for the season of 1874 L D Backenstos President Henry Thompson Vice President J M Gearin Secretary and Treasurer Directors Thompson Barker Whiting, Backenstos and Oliver The Captain of the first nine will be elected at the next meeting The Club has a large membership from which an excellent nine can be selected In conjunction with the Arcadian Club the Pioneers will place the Academy grounds in proper order for playing

TROPICAL FRUIT.—Mr Paul Griswold who went to the Sandwich Islands several months since for the benefit of his health returned on the Falkinburg He brought a large lot of splendid bananas from these Islands, which for lusciousness and delicacy of flavor are unsurpassed He has opened a stand at No 9 on the west side of North First street, between A and B, and will be pleased to have the public call on him Mr Griswold has laid the OREGONIAN office under obligations for a magnificent bunch of this tropical fruit

DIED.—Intelligence was received yesterday, by telegraph, by the family in this city, of the sudden death of Mr John B Talbot, at Belle vue in Yamhill county at an early hour yesterday forenoon The deceased was well known in and about Portland, having resided here for many years Mr Talbot was an old Pioneer of Kentucky Illinois and Oregon and served through the war of 1812 He died at the advanced age of 81 years The remains will be buried to-morrow

ELECTION OF VESTRYMEN.—The annual election of Vestrymen for Trinity Church was held yesterday at the Vestry of the Church The following gentlemen were chosen as vestrymen for the ensuing year Dr R Glisan Dr K B Wilson Judge M P Deady, Capt Geo H Flanders Mr Lloyd Brooke Edwin Russell Esq and Mr B Weeks At the election there were 94 votes cast 55 of which were cast by gentlemen and 39 by ladies

EASTER SERVICE.—Easter Sunday seemed to have a great attraction for our Scandinavian fellow-citizens Last Sabbath the church was filled On this occasion there was also another festival the first baptismal service since the consecration of the church Two infants were baptized by the pastor, Rev A E Fridrichsen We are pleased to learn that prosperity attends this church, and it has our heartiest wishes for future success

SHIPWRECKED

THE GOVERNMENT TRANSPORT SCHOONER MARGARET WRECKED ON KUIPENOFF ISLAND—TOTAL LOSS—CAPTAIN HARRISON AND THE CREW SIX TEEN DAYS AMONG HOSTILE INDIANS—GREAT SUFFERING AND PRIVATIONS—THEY AT LENGTH REACH [illegible] IN SAFETY

Among the passengers who arrived in the steamer California was Capt Geo W Harrison of the schooner Margaret Readers will remember that the dispatch from the north a few days since contained a brief account of the wrecking of that schooner near Prince Frederick's Sound Capt Harrison called on us yesterday and from him we learn the following particulars of the loss of the Margaret While beating along down the coast through the Sound a fearful snow storm was encountered This was on the morning of March 1 at 10 o'clock The wind was blowing a furious gale from the northwest the snow was falling very fast and the weather extremely cold so that all the water which came on board or touched the rigging was instantly frozen stiffly In consequence of this the rigging soon became a mass of ice and refused to obey the ropes while the deck of the schooner presented a rugged mass of frozen water which so impeded the crew in passing to and fro that the vessel was left completely at the mercy of the wind and waves Repeated efforts were made to loosen the rigging and make sail but it was so bitter cold that the men were compelled to desist and abandon further attempts in that direction Pitchy darkness hung over the face of the wild turbulent waters and nothing was heard but the roaring of the waves and hoarse bellowing of the storm The prospect was one which would appall the stoutest heart Finding all efforts to make sail unavailing Capt Harrison concluded to let the vessel drive on her course That officer was well acquainted with the rugged character of the coast and from his reckoning knew that in a few hours at furthest the vessel was bound to strike On and on the doomed vessel scudded through the blind and pitiless storm and just before daylight on the morning of the 2d she struck the lee shore with a fearful crash In an instant more the sea dashed clear over the vessel and came near swallowing up all on board

Fortunately it was at an ebb tide when the Margaret went ashore Capt Harrison says had it been at flood tide not a soul on board would have remained to tell the story After striking the waves did not break over the vessel again When the welcome light of day broke over the scene it was discovered that the vessel had stranded on the most wild desolate and rocky portion of the coast of Kuipenoff Island At the point where the Margaret was lost is about 75 miles from Fort Wrangel and 130 from Sitka Only four men were on board at the time of the wreck—Capt Harrison and three sailors About six o'clock in the morning the storm having died away and the tide receded, so that the vessel was left high and dry the crew went ashore Selecting for a camp a high point of the coast some distance from the scene of the wreck the crew proceeded with haste to transport all the provisions from the vessel to that place All the sails which could be loosened were also taken away They succeeded in carrying off the mainsail which was subsequently of invaluable service in constructing a tent and protecting the crew from the inclemency of the storm and extremely cold weather Scarcely had the crew taken away all which would be indispensable, than the tide swept in with tremendous force completely engulphed the vessel and broke her into fragments

Early on the morning of the seventh day after the wreck several Indians made their appearance in a canoe Up to that time not a human being had been seen These Indians landed and remained for a few hours on the island They made no hostile demonstrations and appeared peaceably disposed toward the shipwrecked crew They took their departure but returned in the afternoon of the same day accompanied by more than forty others No sooner had these Indians who belonged to both the Caique and Stickeen tribes set foot on the island than they began to rob and pilfer everything which they could lay their fingers on Without hesitation, these dirty squalid thieves indiscriminately appropriated articles of clothing provisions, etc They tore down the tent which the crew had hastily improvised and without saying a word, cut it up into narrow strips and then parceled it out among themselves Every day while the crew remained on the island they were besieged by a horde of these filthy savages who continued to plunder them at their pleasure Availing themselves however of the absence of the Indians the crew managed to bury a portion of the provisions or they would certainly have famished as the thieving devils would not have left them a morsel to subsist upon

Before the schooner went to pieces Captain Harrison contrived to get the life-boat off and removed it to a point beyond the reach of the tide It was considerably jammed and broken but not beyond repair As the weary days passed away and no signs of relief appeared, Capt Harrison determined to repair the life boat and send two of his men to Fort Wrangel for assistance Accordingly the crew fell to work and commenced to mend the boat They found considerable difficulty in repairing the damage the greatest trouble being to obtain tools and materials Scraps of copper were tacked over the holes and common yellow bar soap of which there was a quantity on board was mixed with ashes and furnished a fair substitute for pitch with which the seams were stopped Everything being in readiness the craft was launched on the morning of the eighth day after the wreck Two of the crew embarked and started for Wrangel 75 miles distant They were furnished with a chart and sufficient nautical instruments to direct their course along the wild and unknown coast A letter written with a piece of sheet lead was indited by the Captain, directed to Mr Flannery the Custom House officer at Wrangel which stated that he was cast ashore and surrounded by a band of Indians who were liable at any moment to massacre those who remained on the slightest provocation The two men then started Meantime Capt Harrison and the sailor collected every day valuable portions of the wreck—chains anchors rigging etc and placed them on the beach But the Indians who daily grew more and more insolent would carry them off in their canoes until not a vestige of the wreck remained The two men who started for Wrangel lost their reckoning by some means and continued to drift about at random along the coast Eight days more passed away and still no tidings from Wrangel Daily the Indians were growing bolder and increasing in number and the white men did not know what day they would be murdered At length Capt Harrison managed to negotiate with a Caique Chief through the kind mediation and influence of a certain Stickeen Indian who was friendly disposed towards the white men to convey them to Wrangel Twenty dollars was offered by Captain Harrison and graciously accepted by the Caique Chief as the price for the passage After some delays Harrison and the other white man embarked in the canoe on the sixteenth day after the wreck occurred accompanied by two Caiques bound for Wrangel It was with no ordinary feelings of pleasure that these men took their departure from the barren and lonely island which came so near proving their grave For five long days and nights the party beat along the coast baffled by winds and enduring numberless privations With tireless persistence and [illegible] they searched for the two men who had preceded them All the numerous inlets [illegible] of that rugged coast were examined but unavailingly At length on the evening of the [illegible] day they arrived at Wrangel [illegible] completely worn out from protracted hunger [illegible] [illegible] The two men sent by Captain Harrison [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] The Margaret was wrecked [illegible] at Wrangel [illegible] took the steamer for Sitka and from there proceeded [illegible] He came to report to [illegible] the complete loss of the vessel

The Margaret was a schooner [illegible] tons register She belonged to the Government and was employed as a transport to convey provisions etc from one military post to another along the coast The Margaret was a staunch and well equipped vessel Captain Harrison is an old experienced sailor having followed the sea for [illegible] years and feels deeply the loss of the schooner [illegible] He [illegible] ship has broken down his health and caused a great depression of his spirit

He is firmly of the opinion that had it not been for the friendly Stickeen Chief before mentioned he and all the crew would either have been massacred outright by the savages or else carried away and reduced to a condition of abject slavery Fear had restrained the Indians as the Stickeen Chief told all the rest that if they molested Capt Harrison or his crew the Government would make them pay dearly for it They however gratified their cupidity and thievish propensities by stealing everything which they could possess themselves Under all the circumstances it seems almost miraculous that they escaped with their lives from the peril of the sea and the treachery of the savages

SOCIAL EVENTS

The Scandinavian Society of Portland will give their first anniversary ball to-morrow evening (Wednesday) at Good Templars Hall The proceeds will be applied to the benefit of their relief fund Tickets admitting gentleman and ladies one dollar

Emmet Guard Armory was a scene of festivity last evening on the occasion of the ball given under the auspices of that popular company The hall was well filled with gay dancers, and in the language of the immortal bard Everything was lovely while the aquatic bird swang at a highly satisfactory altitude All present enjoyed themselves hugely the music was good and calling ditto It was a social success and we unhesitatingly set it down as such Dancing was kept up to a late hour and all dispersed in the best mood imaginable

We stand much later than usual at the Turner Kranzchen last evening than we expected and consequently we are compelled to condense It is unnecessary to say everything was of an agreeable nature—the Turners always make their social affairs so The ladies were attired in full summer suits likewise the members and when we consider the fact that they indulge in the waltz and the various round dances to an unlimited extent the heat was in excellent [illegible] Wall flowers at the parties in Turn Verein Hall on occasions like that of last night are very rare During the evening Miller and Chick introduced what [illegible] certainly under the circumstances but nevertheless interesting [illegible] At a late hour a substantial lunch was served and [illegible] it was late when the festivities came to a [illegible] [illegible] with the Germans

EASTER DAY IN THE EPISCOPAL CHURCHES

Sunday the 5th was the day on which the Episcopal Church in common with the large part of the Christian world commemorated the Resurrection of Christ from the grave This festival was duly celebrated by all the Episcopal congregations in the city The first service was at St Stephen's Chapel at 6 A M The chapel was beautifully decorated with flowers and shrubbery and tasteful mottoes and a full congregation assembled at that early hour to take part in the beautiful and inspiring services conducted by the Bishop Mr Rosenberg and Mr Burton At 11 o'clock was the service by the Bishop and administration of the Holy Communion at the [illegible] [illegible] of communicants ever present in this chapel At the same hour was the regular morning service at Trinity Church which was fragrant and beautiful with the flowers fresh from the forest and conservatory A large congregation were present with devout attention to the service and sermon by the Rector the Rev Mr Burton The administration of the Holy Communion followed the morning services

The Sunday School had a meeting at 2 o'clock and [illegible] the important event of the day The Easter offering of the children was for the uses of the Sunday School At the same hour the children of St Stephen's and St Matthew's chapels assembled in St Stephen's chapel where after the singing of hymns and Easter carols they were addressed by the Bishop and the Rev Mr Rosenberg

At [illegible] o'clock was the usual afternoon service in St Stephen's chapel which opened out to its full length and supplied with extra seats was crowded to its utmost capacity After a most beautiful and hearty service and the baptism of an infant the Bishop confirmed a class of twelve persons and addressed them

At St Matthew's chapel which was beautifully decorated with wild flowers the Sunday School was held at the usual hour in the morning and the children catechised by the Bishop In the evening the service was conducted and sermon preached by the Rev Mr Rosenburg At the evening service at Trinity Church with a very large congregation the Bishop baptized an infant and confirmed a class of five persons His sermon was from the text "Study to be quiet" in the course of which he addressed the persons just confirmed as follows

I could not take a better thought with which to counsel you who have this day put on the full armor of Christian soldiers You have here pledged yourselves to a lifelong warfare with sin in every form but there can be no contest in which noisy excitement irregular and spasmodic efforts are more out of place than in this You have put your hands to a life long work from which you are never to look back and the feelings and duties to be required of you to-day will be required of you through all your probation You have undertaken by Divine grace to build up and sustain a true and complete Christian character in which all the virtues are to find place and due proportion Such a character is one of roundness symmetry and beauty In it nothing is lacking and nothing exaggerated or distorted or displaced It is to be a character molded after that of your Master it will be animated by ardor and zeal but it will make no display of its emotions nor obtrude its religious feelings and sentiments upon others If it be a character nourished by heavenly dews it will grow in quietness and confidence in secrecy and silence putting forth first the blade then the ear after that the full corn in the ear But to do this it must have its root and foundation in Him and in Him who is all and in all and who is made unto us wisdom and righteousness and sanctification and redemption Unless this life is rooted in Him vain will be all your efforts to force the development of a single fruit or to stimulate the growth of any favorite virtue The heavenly fruits the graces of the Christian character one and all come in due season are borne upon the same stock and are nourished and sustained by the same divine life for which no possible expedient of man can be substitute Therefore says the Holy Spirit through St Peter Add to your faith virtue and to virtue knowledge and to knowledge temperance and to temperance patience and to patience godliness and to godliness brotherly kindness and to brotherly kindness charity For if these things be in you—all of them—the whole body of Christian virtues not any particular one—for if these things be in you and abound they make you that ye shall be neither barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ This fruitfulness in the true Christian virtues will we are well assured be best promoted by a life of quietness and unostentatious unobtrusive performance of the duties of that station to which the providence of God shall call you Your first duty like that of the children whom St Paul counsels will be to "shew piety at home and from that center and starting point your influence will go out with far reaching and enduring power

At St David's East Portland service morning and afternoon were conducted by Rev Mr Wixson of the grammar school The Holy Communion was administered in the morning and several children were baptized in the afternoon The offerings at Trinity were $160 and St Stephen's $66 The music at both these churches was very excellent largely congregational and calculated to promote and gratify a devotional spirit in the worshipper We think that the whole day must have been one of true religious enjoyment to our Episcopal friend

Since writing the above we learn that four adults were baptized at St David's on Easter Day and twelve children—the children having been baptized on the previous Sunday—making twenty six baptisms in the last forty night

All who enjoy a N [illegible] cigar [illegible] the best to buy go to O Brien

A WELCOME

BY THE POET LAUREATE

Tennyson is the Poet Laureate of England. The following is the [illegible] official duty on the arrival of the Duke of Edinburgh and his Russian bride. It is very good:

I

The son of him with whom we strove for power—
Whose will is lord through all his world domain—
Who made the serf a man and burst his chain—
Has given our Prince his own Imperial Flower
Alexandrowna.

And welcome Russian flower, a people's pride
To Britain, when her flowers begin to blow
From love to love, from home to home you go
From mother unto mother, stately bride,
Marie Alexandrowna!

II

The golden news along the steppes is blown
And at thy name the Tartar tents are stirred;
Elburz and all the Caucasus have heard
And all the sultry palms of India known
Alexandrowna!

The voices of our universal sea
On capes of Afric as on cliffs of Kent
The Maories and that Isle of the Continent
And loyal pines of Canada murmur thee
Marie Alexandrowna!

III

Fair empires branching both in lusty life —
Yet Harold's England fell to Norman swords
Yet thine own land has bowed to Tartar hordes
Since England's Harold gave its throne a wife
Alexandrowna!

For thrones and peoples are as waifs that swing,
And float or fall, in endless ebb and flow
But who love best have best the grace to know
That love by right divine is deathless king
Marie Alexandrowna!

IV

And love has led thee to a stranger land
Where men are bold and strongly say their say
See, empire upon empire smiles to-day
As thou with thy young lover hand in hand
Alexandrowna!

So now thy fuller life is in the West
Whose hand at home was gracious to thy poor,
Thy name was blest within the narrow door,
Here also Marie shall thy name be blest
Marie Alexandrowna!

V

Shall fears and jealous hatreds flame again?
Or at thy coming Princess everywhere
No blue heaven break and some diviner air
Breathe thro' the world and change the hearts of men
Alexandrowna!

But hearts that change not, love that cannot cease,
And peace be yours, the peace of soul in soul!
And howsoever this wide world may roll
Between your peoples truth and manful peace
Alfred—Alexandrowna!

SUMNER IN PRIVATE LIFE

There is a very general, but erroneous impression that Mr Sumner was cold and arrogant in the intercourse of private life, accessible to none but his personal friends, and inattentive to the business inquiries and suggestions of his constituents. But nothing could be further from the truth. He was always ready to receive graciously the humblest person who had the slightest claim upon his time, and few public men in Washington have been better liked by the newspaper correspondents than Mr Sumner. The merchants of this city will testify to his practical acquaintance with their necessities and their interests, and also to his unvarying promptness in responding to all reasonable demands for aid and information. No letter addressed to him, unless it was of a frivolous character, was ever allowed to go unanswered, and a far larger portion of his correspondence than is customary with men in his position was dispatched by his own hand. He was constantly in receipt of letters asking for his autograph, and an instance of his good nature in complying with these requests once came under our observation. During the first year of the war the Senator franked a good many letters for Massachusetts soldiers whom he met in the camps about Washington, and one of these envelops fell into the hands of a youth who, after a good deal of study, made out the name of Charles Sumner written in the right-hand corner. The youth was making a collection of autographs, and he wanted the Senator's. But he wanted a better one than this blindly-written frank. So he wrote to Mr Sumner, preferring his request, and jocularly mentioned the fact that he had a hurriedly-written frank, which he only succeeded in making out by consulting a Congressional directory, a legal friend, and the superintendent of a manufacturing corporation. To this communication Mr Sumner sent the following autograph note:

BOSTON, September, '61

DEAR SIR —I am glad you have so good a committee to help you in learning to read. Faithfully yours,

CHARLES SUMNER

Ten years afterward the recipient of the note reminded Mr Sumner of the incident, whereupon the Senator laughed heartily, and said "I declare, I was not aware before that I ever said anything quite so Spartan as that."—Boston Advertiser

A REMARKABLE INCIDENT.—The Marysville Appeal of March 28th gives this incident:

In an item published on the 20th instant, we stated that during a thunderstorm, which occurred about twenty miles north of this city on the 16th instant, a large number of wild geese were killed. The statement of our informant was so remarkable that we gave it but little credence, and declined to publish it all. But the following from the Sutter Banner confirms the remarkable incident: "First, a small amount of common hail, and then followed sufficient snow to whiten the ground. As the hail began to fall, and the lightning flashed, thousands of wild geese, which were in the ponds of shallow water which exist in that locality during the wet winters, suddenly rose up in a great flutter, as if many hunters had discharged a volley among them. They went up and up, apparently to rise above the fearful cloud. It was nearly dark, and those who saw them rise thought no more of it until morning, when they began to find dead geese, and hear of hundreds being picked up by the neighbors. Some 700 had been found. One man picked up on his farm all two horses could haul, for their feathers. Their heads were badly torn and their bills split into fragments. Many of them had the feathers of their backs crisped and burned and their bodies bursted open. The portion of the country thus affected was about a mile and a half wide, and reached several miles into Butte county." The vivid lightning was remarked by a number of people in this city, and all remember the heavy rain which fell soon after, which occurred on the evening of the late election.

POST MORTEM SPITE.—Lord Westbury, whose bitter satire and cynicism were a great annoyance to his opponents in life, has left to the Master of the Rolls great difficulties in the interpretation of his will. He made it himself, and would seem, out of perverseness, to have purposely rendered it obscure. The Master of the Rolls would gladly refuse to construe the document on the ground that it is not capable of interpretation; but Lord Westbury again stands in the way, for a decision given by him while Master of the Rolls prevents the following of such a course by his worried successor.

A TIMID YOUNG LADY.—At a musical party, recently, one of the young ladies who was on the programme for a ballad, lost her self possession and courage at the eleventh hour, and said she "really couldn't sing before so many people." Whereupon her father who was among the guests, entered into an angry altercation with her, which terminated by the daughter calling her father a fool and announcing her intention of going straight home. The rapid return of the demoiselle's self-possession and courage so startled the company that the party broke up soon after.

[illegible]

First—Can money ever be in excess of a healthy demand as long as the rate of interest is above the common gain?

Second—Can money ever be in excess of a healthy demand as long as the gains upon all legitimate business is far below the rate of interest upon money [illegible] at any of the laboring class are in employed and that is a cause of crime?

Third—Can money ever be in excess of a healthy demand as long as the collection of debt [illegible] litigation supports a host of hungry lawyers and causes forced sales?

Fourth—Can money ever be in excess of a healthy demand as long as dozens of pawnbrokers make fortunes in a few years off the necessities and the distresses of the people?

Fifth—Can money ever be in excess of a healthy demand as long as honest industrious intelligent men in ordinary business are unable to pay their taxes?

To all of the above queries a [illegible] might be given, and the shortest way to answer them would perhaps be to say that all the circumstances which are mentioned might exist and still the supply of money be in excess of a healthy demand. For instance, if the capital of the country be invested in useless enterprises or locked up in bank vaults or employed in wild speculation or used in stock gambling the supply might be ample for the ordinary purposes of commerce and still many individual instances be found in which a scarcity would be felt. Trade might languish so that men would be unemployed and still the rates of interest be kept up by the capitalists of the country. In fact the very circumstances detailed in query No. 2 we believe exist in Oregon to-day. Trade is dull not because of a lack of money, but because prices in the markets which usually furnish the demand for our products are so low that with the charges for transportation shippers find their business unprofitable, and though a man had thousands of idle capital he would not engage in a business which clearly promised him no profit, but rather risked a loss. The third question is one which is answered easily, as nine tenths of the litigation is not so much because of men's inability to pay as because of the disagreement as to whether they ought to pay.

The fourth inquiry is hardly pertinent as connected with the general question of finances, as the persons generally who patronize pawnbrokers are not of a class who would have money no matter how large the supply might be.

The fifth question touches a matter which is of general and vital interest, and while the condition of affairs indicated could not be reached under any circumstances as no man can be made to pay what he has not, but taxes may be so high that men of property are pressed to pay them and the value of property be continually depressed and transactions dull and limited. This is also not entirely inapplicable to our country or locality, and hence the loud cry for reform which is heard on all hands. Again the increase of greenbacks would not be an increase of money as can be clearly illustrated. As we have before said, we can certainly see no reason in the argument which says $1,200 in greenbacks are any better than $1,000 when the issue of the additional $200 depreciates the value of the $1,200 to just what the $1,000 was worth before.

Miscellaneous.

The last installment of counterfeits is said to be remarkably well executed, and even the most experienced business men are frequently deceived in regard to their character. The principal operations thus far are in $100, $50 and $20 U. S. Treasury notes. In addition to the artistic execution the bills bear marks of age. Parties have been at work in St. Louis with counterfeits of the First Indianapolis Bank, and indications appear to warrant the conclusion that the dealers are prepared for an active spring campaign.

The stock of grain in Chicago on the 14th ult compares as follows:

| March 14th | 1873 | 1874 |
|---|---|---|
| Wheat bushels | 2,412,560 | 2,524,000 |
| Corn | 5,914,200 | 1,682,000 |
| Oats | 1,700,700 | 880,000 |
| Rye | 91,400 | 42,000 |
| Barley | 342,200 | 217,000 |

The stock of barley shows a heavy falling off.

The Board of Fire Underwriters of New York resolved to pay rewards for the arrest and conviction of incendiaries. In accordance with this resolution they recently paid to properly authorized persons $600 for the conviction of Charles E. Hunter of firing his own house at Gransville, Indiana.

An exchange says that many of the large ships now in course of construction at various Eastern ports are on Boston account, and are designed for the Pacific coast grain trade. Now that an abundant harvest and remunerative freights are almost a certainty, large numbers of ships are heading for this port. The ship Carrollton on her way from New York has been sold for $96,000, including her freight money out.

Palermo advices to the 10th ult. report an advance of 15 per cent in the price of almonds in consequence of a scarcity. The prospect at present in California is that a large crop will be produced and that prices will be very remunerative.

The increase in the foreign commerce of New York and in that of the whole country for the past three years has been as follows:

| | New York | U. S. |
|---|---|---|
| Year ending June 30 1873 | $ 54,339,768 | $126,170,088 |
| Year ending June 30 1872 | [illegible] | [illegible] |
| Year ending June 30 1871 | 139,225,849 | 140,[illegible] |
| Increase in three years | $254,1[illegible] | $410,007,[illegible] |

A Rare Chance for a Good Physician.

AS MY HEALTH IS IN SUCH A CONDITION that I cannot endure the exposure and hardship consequent upon country practice, I offer to sell my residence situated in Hillsboro, the County Seat of Washington County, Oregon, upon the most reasonable terms, with a good practice thrown in, the extent of which may be ascertained by addressing the undersigned, or examining his books personally.

The property consists of 2 lots 84x200 feet each, enclosed with a picket fence and sidewalk in front, located on Main st., Hillsboro, 1 block from the Court House, with a good dwelling house, office and barn; also a never failing well of water, bricked in, and various fruit trees and vines growing thriftily. All of which I will sell for $1,000 in cash, or one half cash and the remaining half on one year's credit with 1[illegible] per cent interest secured by mortgage. Title guaranteed.

I will also sell a No. 1 Sorrel Horse, with Saddle, Bridle and Saddlebags, together with Household Furniture (if desired) at a greatly reduced price.

Hillsboro is situated in one of the most wealthy farming localities in the state, and has a population of about 400 inhabitants, and has a railroad running through the place. There is but one practising Physician in the place, excepting myself, and giving a much business as both can do.

My object for selling is as above stated, and for the purpose of commencing city practice. Any good Physician wishing a good country practice cannot find a better place, and will do well to call and see for himself, or address me for any information. Address as above.

JOHN NYE, M. D.

Hillsboro, March 1874. ap1tf1m
